Invitation from The Mayor

On behalf of the Mayor of Maldon, Mr James Burrell-Cook, you are invited to attend one of the many events taking place as part of the Maldon Festival of Music, Arts and Culture - from 11th to the 26th September.

The festival draws together a rich tapestry of music, art, theatre and cultural heritage from around our area and everyone is invited. All of the ticketed performances are free for under-18s!

The entire programme of events can be viewed on their official website here. Note: The Maldon Art Trail which runs alongside the festival features some of our very own All Saints' children's art work.

A couple of events, taking place on Prom Park, have a focus on involving young people - these are:

Prom Park Live: 19-20th September - Come and learn about being a performer!

Across the weekend, Promenade Park will come alive with live music, arts and performance. Prom Park Live will showcase a wide variety of performers and provide opportunities for young singers, songwriters and performances to experience live music and meet the creative people behind it and get involved.

Paint in the Park: 19-20th September - Come and discover about being an artist!

Alongside the live performances, the young people of Maldon are invited to come along and get creative. The Maldon Festival has purchased 200 watercolour art sets which young people will be invited to use alongside 10 local artists who will be set-up around the park to share skills. This is designed to be an informal event to give everyone a chance to discover something new.
